  - "Culture is Wellness"
  - "The health of the land is reflective of the health of the people, and vice versa. Our personal well-being depends on the state of our earth, and our earth is in crisis. As a people, we are facing climate change. As ITR, we will illustrate how the most regenerative solutions to the climate crisis require not only decarbonization, but also strategies to decolonize, detoxify, demilitarize, de-gentrify and democratize our economies and our democracy. Through cross-sector and solutionary strategy exchange, local solutions tours, creative action trainings, and democratic, popular assembly, we will provide direction on bold and transformative pathways for frontline communities' place-based solutions over top-down, false market-based solutions. ITR members will highlight frontline (local to global) community solutions, demos, and culture that address the interlinked crises of climate, food, water, health, jobs, housing, sovereignty.
